
The magical power of Bioresonance Therapy

Bioresonance Therapy is an amazing healing practice which brings forth amazing results in a short period of time in most cases. I brought it into my private practice 10 years ago as a therapy I was amazed with myself! The probability of working with people at an energy level with the help of a special device, was back then and yet is promising, bringing back hope to those who have suffered for years from illnesses and ailments which are persistent, chronic and acute and incurable. As a lightworker who wants to help people and this world, I had always been dreaming of treatments that would bring forth revelation and cure without the use of medicines.

I myself have embraced a healthy lifestyle and massively shifted my point of view towards becoming responsible for my own health, hence, contributing further to the wellbeing of others around me. Being able to serve others in such a way was a dream that became my reality, partly because of Bioresonance therapy 10 years ago. It works miracles and the healing is felt and seen shortly after the first application has taken place. I say this with conviction because in my private practice I have become popular for attracting really “difficult” cases i.e. people with chronic disease, incurable, with many psychological blocks. Despite the odds, Bioresonance has again and again been proven to be a work of art rocking together with solid science.

I know you think I am all excited and by this time you wonder what is this therapy and what it is that it does. This is what I am here to answer as simply as I can.

Few suspicious, “science” orientated individuals, many consider this therapy to be not yet proven and accepted by the medicine world. However, I welcome you to read the following:

1. It is not a medical therapy, it is an energy therapy working as a medicine without using chemical substances nor drugs. It is considered an alternative therapy simply because it is not categorized as a medical therapy. Yet, it applied and supported my many doctors and members of the medical community.
2. It is an energy “medicine” based on Einstein’s Formula i.e. $E=mc^2$. Before the material world can become, the energy must exist. This is a law I embrace.
3. There are not many scientific studies published to prove the efficacy of Bioresonance and yet the results experienced by the client and witnessed by the Therapist cannot be underestimated. They are extraordinary.
4. Humans are viewed in their totality. The approach is Holistic in that it takes all history, symptoms, feelings, thoughts into account. Even when all these parameters are not known it still works because the health equation doesn’t require knowing everything in order to cause healing. Individual cases are treated as such and protocols are adjusted to bring forth healing.

Bioresonance is based on the energy facts we humans now hold in our hands i.e. the energy system running across our body, the special frequencies our organs emit each holding significant and specific frequencies, frequencies function at a physical level and emotional, mental, energy and Spiritual levels, our knowledge of the interactive relationship we hold with our environment and mother earth.

More specifically:

the food we eat,

the environment we live and whether it is suffering from electromagnetic or /and geopathic stressors or other pollution agents, the chemicals used inside and outside our house,

what we breath,

our neighborhood etc.

The aim of this therapy is to discover the energy imbalances of the body and find the root causes of the symptoms and /or illnesses. It then proceeds to reinforce the human body and reverse imbalances. The body then will return to equilibrium. The body is not perceived as something weak unable to cope and overcome the challenges and difficulties it is faced with. It is considered a a very sophisticated, miraculous device which after applying the right procedure, it can return to homeostasis and claim back its healing power.

I am here to help you return to health and overcome painful conditions and imbalances without the use of chemical substances and any other medical drug. This saying, I believe you need to know this:

Bioresonance is not threatened nor is a threat to any medical treatments you may be following. The purpose is not to cause further conflicts but assist the individual as much as possible. This therapy works perfectly whilst one is under medication. Yet, it only aims to assist the individual and assist recovery. It boosts recovery and decreases the time of recovery. We don't make claims you need to stop receiving any medication administered to you by your doctor. We don't go against the methods and treatments administered by medical staff. Bioresonance assists the overall healing scheme by adding knowledge and reaching the root causes of your problems. It then, provides a holistic approach to bring you back to balance. It works very well with other Holistic approaches such as Homeopathy. It can be the main healing approach one follows or complimentary to the others.

Bioresonance is working miracles on:

- ❖ Acute and Chronic allergies such as eczema, asthma and dermatitis

- ❖ Acute and chronic disturbances of the stomach, Small and Large

Intestines

- ❖ Organ imbalances such as abuse of the Liver through consumption of alcohol and other drugs, imbalances of Pancreas, etc.

- ❖ Muscular pain

- ❖ Injuries

- ❖ Chronic Fatigue Syndrome

- ❖ Psychosomatic imbalances

- ❖ Electromagnetic overload

- ❖ Thyroid gland imbalances

- ❖ Slow metabolism

- ❖ Psychological problems like Phobias, Stress, depression.

Today's life is very demanding and consuming. There is an ever increasing variety of technological advances, uncountable chemical ingredients found almost everywhere from cleansing products, the food we eat, what we breath, the cosmetics we use. More and more the need for detoxing and finding ways to manage these stressors increases.

When all these things become too much!

Stressful conditions have massively increased and so the need for more natural methods has increased. Chemicals, environmental toxins, electromagnetic pollution, drug and medicine abuse, all call in for different approaches to handle and manage such overload. All these can and do affect humans at all levels from psychological, to physical, mental and energetic level.

Becoming more specific on the Therapy.

The human body possesses a unique self-healing mechanism which can bring the body back to homeostasis whenever this is necessary. Immense stressful conditions for a prolonged period of time block the self-healing ability for recovery.

Bringing the body back to balance becomes possible through stimulating and reinforcing the self-regulating mechanisms.

Matter is energy.

Our body consists of cells. There are many different types of cells. Others are responsible for digestion, others for bacterias or waste products.

The fact is as I aforementioned, that matter is energy. And so any form of matter is energy and emits energy. Therefore, every substance, every cell, every body part as well as bacterias, viruses, chemicals, pollen, emotions etc., they all have their unique energetic signature and their unique frequency.

Cells communicate with each other i.e they live and exist in a community.

Cells are surrounded by the cell membrane which protects them and is responsible for sending and receiving messages. E.g. when a virus enters the body, our white cells are being ordered to attack the virus.

It is proven that the cells communicate with each other through a specific frequency spectrum. It is also true, our body can balance itself through its cells communication and collaboration. This process of information exchange is accomplished perfectly in a healthy body. This is not true, however, when the body is under stress for some time (individual factors lead to different times of manifestation of the stress effects and impact). Consider stress as being something your body considers unnatural to its physiological functioning.

The effects of stress in whichever form appears in an individual's life.

Stressors as I mentioned could be anything from emotions, psychological being, toxins, electromagnetic frequencies, bacterias, viruses etc. and they can disturb the communication between the cells. Considering the 75-100 trillion of cells we have in our bodies, we can imagine the effect such an interruption in the communication vessel of the cell "community" may have.

Disturbance at a cellular level can bring forth major changes in the human body.

Lack of proper cell communication would entail psychological exhaustion, chronic fatigue, physical and psychological problems.

What may happen at this moment?

Bioresonance can offer the solution: balancing the individual through the appropriate frequencies the body needs in order to heal and go back to harmony.

Few more things about Bioresonance Therapy.

Quantum Physics have led to incredible technological advances. Such revelations are the basis of Bioresonance and have contributed to understanding of the method. The Therapy is achieved through the use of a highly advanced and sophisticated technological device.

According to the method, the device receives the unique personal electromagnetic frequencies of the body and transform them. The healthy vibrations are reinforced whilst the pathological, “disturbed” ones, are discouraged. Afterwards, they are returned to the body in the form of therapeutic vibrations. It is important to know that the device works ONLY with your energy and not with some other type of electromagnetism. It receives your energy and through appropriate adaptations, it sends back to the body the Natural for the body Therapeutic vibrations.

The main principles of the Therapy are confirmed by the latest discoveries of Quantum Physics. The method is applied with great success since 1977 and has received certifications of recognition as a device safe for individuals(TUV, ISO 9001). The protocol followed is unique, individualized and safe.

Ancient knowledge is used relevant to the human body, both East and West orientated, hence, we experience a “marriage” between the East and the West towards Healing. Electroacupuncture and the Five Elements(Fire, Earth, Metal, Water, Wood) are easily applied during Bioresonance Therapy.
